Putting The Pieces Together

Putting the Pieces Together

At times our school may seem puzzling, but with one piece missing, our school would not be complete. That is why this book is titled, Putting the Pieces Together.

PURDUE

INDIANA

Mrs. Minch as a child

Mrs. Minch on her wedding day

Restoration of this house has been one of Mrs. Minch's projects.

A Tribute to Mrs. Minch

We, the graduating class of 1987, are proud to announce that the 1986-87 edition of Reflection is dedicated to Mrs. Jane Minch. She is not only a fantastic teacher but also a friend to her students. When a student needs guidance, encouragement, or just someone to talk to, she is always there willing to help.

Mrs. Minch graduated from Portland High School and attended Indiana University. Her first love in life is teaching and reading literature, but she also finds time to collect and restore antiques and to travel. She enjoys almost all sports but has a certain passion for basketball.

Mrs. Minch and her husband, John, have two children, Alison and Ted. She is very proud of her family and tries to maintain a positive attitude.

Her advice to students for the present and future is simply, "Allow yourself to be the very best you can be." Mrs. Minch has helped many students achieve this goal.

Mrs. Minch will always be a well-remembered teacher who has given the class of 1987 some very good memories.

Mrs. Minch works hard at restoring the old house.

Mr. Piety presents Adriana with her diploma.

Adriana celebrates her victory over the freshmen at the powderpuff football game.

? Hablas Portuguesa?

?Hablas Portuguesa? You may not understand this phrase but Adriana Jardim does. Aridana is originally from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. She has been living in the United States for a year as an exchange student. Adriana became an exchange student so that she could learn about the American way of life and their school system.

Adriana commented that she has had many memorable moments during her stay in America. Some of these moments include Pom Pon Camp, Cheerleader Camp, the trips to San Francisco, North Carolina, Nevada, Arizona, the Rotary meetings, and the experiences of living with different families.

Some of Adriana's interests include surfing, shopping, making new friends and staying close to old ones. Adriana is also a very talented dancer. At one of the home basketball games, she and Cami Willey did a very impressive dance routine to "What a Feeling."

Adriana's future plans are to return to Brazil and finish her senior year of school. She then wants to attend college and maybe major in hotel or school managing. Adriana believes that she has gained a lot from her stay in America and hopes that someday she will have a chance to return.

Pet Peeve: When people pretend to be your friend at the time they want, or having two faces. In front of you is your friend but behind you is not.

Most Embarrassing Moment:
One summer in North Carolina, I was very hungry and confused and instead of saying that my stomach was growling, I said, "My stomach is barking!"

Sprechen Sie Deutsch?

"I think that American teenagers are no different than European teenagers. They both just like to have fun!"

Sprechen Sie Deutsch is another phrase that one S.A. student understands. This student is Angela Frenzel. Angie, originally from Russelsheim, West Germany, has been living in the United States since last August. Angie became an exchange student because she wanted to learn about American's culture and their everyday life.

Angie has had many memorable moments during her stay in America. Some of these include her trips to Washington D.C., Philadelphia, and New York. Angie also especially enjoyed the dinner before Prom with Tina, Kim, Janet, and Lisa.

Some of Angie's interests include drawing, swimming, tennis, reading, downhill skiing, and jazz-dance. She is also a very talented photographer. During the art exhibit at the Pops Concert, Angie had a chance to display some of her fabulous pictures.

Angie's future plans are to return to West Germany and become an apprentice in a kindergarten class. She hopes of someday becoming a professional photographer. Returning to America someday, is also a future plan for Angie.

Putting The Pieces Together . . .

For 1987

Many major events have taken place throughout the year. These newsmakers range from tragedy to politics to entertainment.

The nation was shocked when two well known entertainers, Rock Hudson and Liberace, died of the incurable disease known as AIDS. The AIDS epidemic traumatized the lives of many people around the world this past year.

Our nation also suffered many so called "tragedies" in politics this year. The Iran Contra scandal brought much controversy upon the nation. This scandel involved secret dealings with the Contra rebels.

Another controversial issue which took the nation by surprise was the resignation of Jim and Tammy Bakker from the PTL Club. Accusations of extra marital affairs and the abuse of drugs laid upon the Bakkers, led to this resignation.

One major sporting event for the nation this past year included winning the American Cup with America's own "Stars and Stripes." This boat, which was known to be the fastest sailboat on the Indian Ocean, was sailed by Dennis Conner.

The state of Indiana was at it's height of glory when the ever-popular Indiana Hoosiers won the National Basketball Championship. The 74-73 victory game over Syracuse gave Indiana the title of NCAA Champs.

The nation's field of entertainment also had a successful year. The movie "Top Gun", starring Tom Cruise, was named movie of the year. This movie brought in millions of dollars and the best rating for the year.

As you have read, the nation was kept on its toes by these shocking and exciting stories. These major events are what make 1986-1987 memorable.

STUDENT LIFE

Our Love Affair . . .

With The Automobile

Cars Reflect Personality

At just one glance at the South Adams parking lot, you may see a jeep, a jacked-up Cadillac, a Lincoln, a motorcycle, an Escort, a truck, and a Monte Carlo. Each vehicle plays an important part in a high school student's life, from getting them to school and work to cruising on the weekends.

A student's personality and tastes show through in their automobile. Some vehicles are jacked-up to add a certain class. The rear view mirrors are often ordained with graduation tassels, garters, dice or stuffed animals. Bumper stickers identify what college a student roots for. If you check the gas tank, you can see who is careful to keep their tank full and who procrastinates to the point of coasting into the gas station.

From motorcycles to jeeps, tassels to empty tanks, most students take great pride in their "wheels."

Lead Foot Affliction

There is an affliction that basically no teenager escapes—the Lead Foot. Under normal conditions, the Lead Foot usually strikes in the right foot and only flares up when a teen climbs into the driver's seat of a vehicle. Once in sitting position, a tingling sensation flows through the foot, followed by a heavy feeling. The condition can be dangerous in degrees (depending on the amount of lead in the foot and the road conditions). Teens with an excessive case of Lead Foot are subject to visions of red lights and the sounds of screaming sirens.

What should you do if you discover yourself in the above situation? Please pull over. Sorry, the red disco lights will not go away. Now you better start thinking fast because unless you have an excellent excuse (like—"I have to get home! My dog's delivering and I'm her lamaz partner) your Lead Foot Affliction is going to cost you some money!

From Bruce . . . To Bobby . . . To "Baby on Board"

Hits in 1987

"What's hot, what's not" is a question that's asked every year. In order to find out South Adam's answer, the yearbook staff conducted a survey. This survey consisted of about 25 questions which ranged from favorite foods to three things you like about S.A. (c'mon, there's gotta be something!)

Besides food at South Adams, "what's hot" also includes clothes. This year 'Guess' made it big with jeans, t-shirts, and other apparel for both guys and gals. Tank tops, suspenders, and Jams are also big in '87's fashion forecast.

Max Headroom, whose face graced the front of many T-shirts, was also a well-known fashion figure. However, Max has had more on his mind than just fashion this year. He's been keeping busy fulfilling his job as spokesman for his #1 soft drink "C-C-C-Coke".

Not all companies are lucky enough to have a man like Max, though. However, Jolt, a new cola, made it big on their logo alone—"All the sugar and twice the caffeine."

Many folks, while sipping their coke in a theater, enjoyed the new movie 'Hoosiers'. This touching story of a small-town basketball team becoming the Indiana State Champs, set the pace for the exciting I.U. victory in the NCAA tourney. However, many Purdue fans still seem to think Bobby got lucky. Many are wondering if that ever-popular bulge beneath his red sweater is really a home for a "good luck" Hudson's Santa Bear. Yes, those cuddly creatures were irresistible items this Christmas, but would Bobby Knight dare show anyone his soft side?

If Knight wants to let anyone know anything, he'll probably let them know via ah "On Board" sign. You know, those yield signs dressed up with "Baby on Board" or "Boyfriend in Trunk", etc. One could tell someone just about anything except his favorite T.V. show.

Sorry 'Moonlighting' fans, Bruce and Sybil haven't made it to "On Boards" yet, but they are a hot T.V. couple here at S.A.

Many new fads and fashions have come in and gone out, but there's no doubt '87 will always stay hot!

—Julie Steiner

BABY ON BOARD!

Junk Food!!!

The life of a student is a hectic one, leaving little time in the day to stop for a healthy, home cooked meal. The solution the busy bodied teen turns to: fast food and junk food. Fast food is generally fried and greasy. Junk food usually consists of potato chips, twinkies, candy bars, and pop.

Fast food franchises are the scene for most weekend excursions. McDonalds and Pizza Huts have been common words in today's generation. These restaurants, as well as many others, provide good food and good times at an affordable price.

During the week most students do not always have the time to drive to the fast food hang-outs, so they settle for junk food. It's so much easier to grab for a bag of chips than to take time to create a well balanced meal. Even at school many students opt for the junk food line over the "nutritional" full meal line.

Unhealthy as it may be, it fits well into a student's life style. With America's new obsession with fitness, it could all change in the next ten years, but for now fast junk food meals live on.

This Sounds Familiar!!

You know you're going to be grounded when . . .
—You come home with only part of the car.
—Your mother calls you by your full name.
—You wander home at 4:00 a.m. and do not have a good excuse.
—The end of the nine week rolls around.
—Your parents find out what you really did last weekend.

You know you're going to be dumped when . . .
—Your boyfriend would rather do his homework than be with you.
—Your boyfriend calls you by his ex-girlfriend's name.
—Your girlfriend says, "We've got to talk."
—She says, "I really like you, but . . . "
—He says he will call and never does.

You know it's going to be a bad day when . . .
—You put your bra on backwards and it fits better.
—You realize that half of your breakfast is on your shirt.
—You wake up at 8:45 a.m. on a school day.
—You drop your toothbrush in the toilet.

You know you have summer fever when . . .
—You lay out in the snow.
—Everybody gets Saturday School for wearing tank tops.
—You ask for a bikini for Christmas.
—You start wearing shorts in 50° weather and claim your goosebumps are freckles.
—You can't wait to weed the garden.

You know you're broke when . . .
—You risk getting hit by a semi to pick up a nickel off the middle of the street.
—When she has to pay for the date.
—You can't afford the school lunch.
—You go to the laundromat to search for change under the dryers.
—You withdraw money from your savings to buy gas.

Mark Wynn uses his lunch period to cram for a test.

Hey! What's For Lunch?

The lunch bell rings, and the race is on to get a good spot in line. Students flock into the halls from their classes with looks of wild hunger in their eyes.

It doesn't take long before you learn the tricks of the lunch line. You soon become skilled at picking out the biggest and softest cookies, snitching a few extra fries or chips from another container, picking out the biggest, golden brown hot roll, and you even master shaking those mashed potatoes off the scooper.

After you make it through the line, you face the condiment table. You learn very quickly to stand back when you use the pump servers or you risk getting "splattered." One other thing is, if you can not find the salt shaker, just find Mr. Anderson; he's always carrying one around.

The rest of lunch is like a massive gab session. Everyone sits with his friends and tells them the good and bad points of the day and anything else that comes to mind.

To many, lunch is the best class of the day. You don't have to worry about a grade; there are not tests or quizzes; and best of all, there isn't any homework!

S.A. Has Spirit

We got spirit; yes, we do. We got spirit, how about you!?!?! This is a familiar saying that is said at many games during the South Adams athletic season. Yes, here at South Adams, school spirit is alive and strong.

This past year, there were many events that gave the students and teachers a chance to show their school pride. Some of the events this year included an area cram (How many people do you think can cram into a closet? We, at South Adams know.), a lip sync contest (the contest that lasted "For the Longest Time"), and shaving cream stack contest. There were also the powder puff football tournament and the boys' volleyball game.

South Adams also has a spirit dress code that was carried out to the hilt. Some days, you live as hippies while other days you go Hawaiian. Then, there are those days that you just don't know what to wear. So, why not wear your favorite designer garbage bag? These are everyday questions that face a typical student during "Spirit Week" at South Adams.

South Adams may be a small school, but we here in the South know how to have a lot of fun.

The Spirit of the South

During Homecoming week at South Adams, the Student Council designated a spirit day for each day of the week. Monday was "generic" day. Tuesday was "hefty" day. Wednesday was "dress-up" day, Thursday was "pin-a-win" day, and Friday was the traditional "gold, black, and white" day.

There were also many other homecoming events. On Thursday night, the annual Powder Puff football game was played. At the end of the tournament the seniors conquered the freshmen and were crowned this year's champs.

A new event this year was the tug-a-war contest. The junior team beat the defending senior champs in a close pull to the finish.

In order to raise money for the football team, the Student Council also sponsored a "kiss-a-pig" contest. Each senior member of the football team had money placed on him to be the "lucky" pig kisser. This year's honor was bestowed on Todd Amstutz.

Another new event that was added to this year's homecoming was an "area cram". It was a big success in raising spirit. Each class tried to fit as many people as they could into a confined area. Both the senior boys and the senior girls won this final spirit event.

The results of the "class spirit" competition were the seniors took first place, the freshmen took second, the juniors claimed third, and the sophomores came in last. The student body has proved that the "Spirit of the South" is alive at South Adams.

Pucker up, Todd Amstutz. She's all yours!

Taking the Reign

On Friday, October 10, the excitement of the 1986-87 Homecoming was in the air. After the annual FFA Chicken BBQ, everyone began anticipating the festivities that would begin at 6:30 that evening.

The band started the evening off with their pregame performance. At half time they revealed their ISSMA Contest show in its entirety.

Then came the event everyone was waiting for: the crowning of our new king and queen. Tension mounted as the announcer introduced all the candidates. The winners were then announced as Rhonda Tschannen and Kent Lehman.

After the crowning, the football game began. We kicked off against the tough Culver Military team only to face a defeat of 0 to 55.

Following the game, the Student Council held an alumni reception for the class of 86. Teachers and students renewed old acquaintances.

The night ended with the Homecoming dance featuring "Thunder and Lightning". The group played the greatest hits of old and new while the Stars "rocked the night away."

Friends Are Forever

I thank you for the times you cared
And all the moments that we shared.
I thank you for the memories;
A friend to me you'll always be.
I thank you for your tenderness
That fills each day with happiness,
A joy that lasts eternally.
A friend to me you'll always be.
I thank you for just being there
And all the times you had to bear.
Though there are times we don't agree,
A friend to me you'll always be
I thank you for the gift of love,
A gift that's sent from heaven above,
A love that is of purity,
A friend to me you'll always be.
I thank you for the things I see
and what our friendship shows to me.
I'll thank you for eternity;
a friend to me you'll always be.

Loungin' Around

One of the new additions to our school this year is the student lounge. The student lounge was set up in the commons area. This new seating area was designed to keep students from blocking the halls.

The student lounge is where you can find all your friends before and after school, during lunch, and between periods. Everyone congregates together to talk about major topics of a teenager's life.

Students also use the student lounge for short four-minute naps or finishing up last minute homework. But the main purpose of the lounge is to provide a place for the students to relax and goof off a bit. In the lounge students can forget the pressures of school and relax.

Even at school, Amy and Debbie find time to talk on the phone.

Scientifically Fun!!!

The Music Boosters held their annual chicken barbecue and carnival on Friday, April 3. They held the carnival to help raise money for various needs of the music department. Hundreds of people ventured out to the festivities which included a large number of activities. A few of the attractions were a cake walk, ring toss, a walk on the moon, a bean-bag toss, bingo, and the Science Fair.

The Science Fair tests the students scientific abilities. It is a competition to show originality and showmanship of the person's understanding of certain areas in the field of science. Each winner receives a plaque. Students really enjoy the competition among friends.

But now the path gets steeper
And the climb is just begun.
We're very glad to know you;
We'll miss you when you're gone,
And to the Class of '87
We dedicate our Prom.

Heaven In Your Eyes

On the Saturday evening of April 18, 1987, the juniors and seniors headed to the Fort Wayne Holidome for their Junior-Senior Prom. "Heaven in your Eyes" was the theme chosen for this memorable evening.

For many couples this special evening began with dinner at a restaurant of their choice. Prom began at the Holidome at 8:00. Pictures were taken by Habegger Photography. As the evening progressed, couples danced to the music provided by Sound One and helped themselves to the delicious hors d'oeuvres and punch furnished by the Holidome.

Finally the moment came that everyone was waiting for. Tension and excitement rose as Lori Liechty announced the 1987 Prom King and Queen. This year's king and queen were Scott Von Gunten and Brenda Norris.

Instead of giving out door prizes, this year, the junior class gave everyone a wine glass with "Heaven In Your Eyes", inscribed on it, and each girl received a carnation.

The prom came to a close at about 11:30. Many couples then celebrated afterwards by attending parties or going out for breakfast. I think that everyone will agree that the juniors gave the senior class a truly unforgettable prom.

Thoughts of Summer

There is no other day that the students at South Adams like better than the last day of school. Usually with about three weeks of school left, students' minds start drifting from their school work. Thoughts of cruising, swimming, shopping, hanging out with friends, and sleeping in late fill all of their thoughts.

Summer time is also a great time for a job. Several students find jobs in restaurants, gas stations, department stores, or baby-sitting. The money is usually saved for college, marriage, or shopping, but some students just like to have money in their pockets to spend on entertainment, dates, or anything else.

Now can you see why the last day of school is so important? It will always be a favorite here at South Adams.

Making a Memory

May 24, 1987, proved to be a day of both sadness and happiness. As the senior class of 1987 marched down the aisle to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance," they realized that this was the close of a very important chapter in their lives. Never again would they all be together as one class; yet their memories would last forever.

Speakers for the ceremony were seniors Kent Lehman and Cheryl Morgan. Kent spoke on the past, while Cheryl looked on towards the future. The senior choir sang two selections, then the diplomas were passed out by Jay Smitley, school board president. Mark Burry was honored as valedictorian and Lynette McMullen as salutatorian.

This memorable occasion was celebrated with many friends and relatives. Each graduate eagerly anticipates the chance to try new goals.

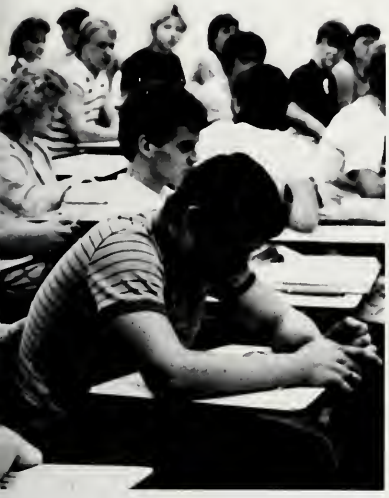
Working Overtime



Study, study, study! Is that all that the students at S.A. do? Of course not! Although, for most students it does take up a great amount of their free time.

There are various reasons why students at S.A. study. Some of them study because their parents make them. Others do their homework because they want to be in athletics. Students also study to receive good grades and to be members of National Honor Society. Finally, there are those who study because they don't have anything else better to do.

It doesn't really matter why students do their homework—just as long as it gets done. Students have found that taking time for homework usually pays off.

These students take advantage of their library time.

Working for the weekend, Dave?

Greg Raff gets some help from Mrs. Gilbert, our new librarian.

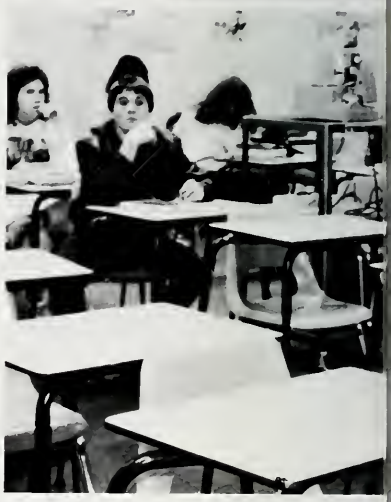
SOCIAL STUDIES

Holly Hoffman, Cheryl Morgan, and Mary Noonan visit the Court House with their government class.

If you don't do your work, you're gonna get it!



Mr. Spade's psychology class takes time to pose for the camera.

Jason Coffin gives the camera a peace sign as the rest of the class looks on.

Back in Time

When students think about social studies, they picture themselves stuck in a time zone. Only a bell ringing 45 minutes later can zap them back to the future.

Social studies covers a wide range of subjects—not just history. Psychology and sociology are two of the courses that fall under social studies. They deal with behavior and how people interact socially. In government and contemporary issues, students learn about their government and how the world is making history today. There is an economics class for students who like talking about money! Finally, there are history classes—yep, time zones! Most students groan "Boring!"

Take a few minutes to realize that our past makes us what we are tody. Past mistakes may prevent furture tragedies if people know about them and learn from them.

Lisa Mathys tells Julie Robinson of her exciting weekend.

Now this is an odd combination of the Three Musketeers!

English

Can you tell that it's another great Monday?

Mrs. Cook eagerly helps Angie Merkel with her term paper.

Mr. Tatman puts Anita Sharp on the spot in Speech and Drama.

Mrs. Minch is shocked that everyone is present today.

Grin And Bear It

An article heading on a college bulletin was humorously entitled "Smile When They Say, 'You're Majoring in English!' " Although South Adams has a few English buffs, for the most part the students' motto is "Grin and Bear It."

English class just isn't one that students rush to through the halls in suspense of finding out the eighth part of speech! However, whether students care to admit it or not, the literature covered is sometimes interesting. By the end of the story you actually catch yourself speaking with thou's, thine's, and thee's!

Although it is not always a favorite, the English department is valuable to all students and a requirement for graduation. So what can you do if you abhor English and your ultimate goal is illiteracy? "Grin and Bear It!"

SCIENCE

Mr. Sheets teaches his class the fundamentals of science.

Mrs. Border's science class is decorated with atoms.

Mrs. Borders and Mrs. Fields discuss the next lab experiment.

Noelle Hans laughs while Chad Grabau and Valerie Neunschwander are still trying to catch the joke.

Providing the Unifying Element

Science, a class of thrills and chills! Where else can you take your aggressions out on a frog, develop an obsession with rocks or learn science by learning math?

Of course, like any other great thing in life, a science class has its faults. You may experience nightmares of "sig figs" dancing through your mind. You may realize that the day your class studiesa chicken embryo is the day the cafeteria serves chicken for lunch. And let's not forget madmen scientists with fire extinguishers! (Warning: the surgeon general has declared sleeping in chemistry class unsafe.)

Seriously, although science is one of the tougher subjects in scholl, it's a great way to learn about the changing life around you. It may be a painful 45 minutes in your school day, but it provides knowledge that may come in handy some day.

Michael Burke, Doug Bresnahan, Kim Shoaf, and Terri Lehman ham it up during lab.

Mr. Mertz explains science to these interested students.

Darren Neunschwander thinks science class is a real gas!

Math

Junior T.J. Miracle explains Algebra II to the rest of the class.

We need help, Mr. McClung!

By the looks of Mr. Grogg's face, he has not had a very good day.

Figures of the Mind

You stare silently at the board, wondering who, in his right mind, could ever create such a complex mathematical formula! Definitely not your average person. Normal people don't devote hours of their free time to mathematic formulas that can curl the toes of a math whiz! Then you say a silent prayer for graduation to come quickly and painlessly so you'll be free of the strain of fractions, unknown variables, six digit division, and bring only a few numbers of in addition. But wait—don't think it won't come back to haunt you. Parents and teachers don't tell you "you're going to use math the rest of your life," just to watch you squirm! For the most part, they're just concerned for you and want you to be prepared for the future. Therefore, it is wise to learn the fundamentals of math: 1) Always carry a calculater! 2) Know basic math in case your calculator batteries run down or your solar energy calculator has a breakdown.

And what about the "upper class" math? What will you use that for? As Mr. McClung says, pointing to the text, "Here, to do your homework!"

Jana Mertz daydreams about her plans after school.

The math assignment must have been easy.

Foreign Language

Ted, Mrs. Neunschwander, Steve, and Scott are ready for a fun time in France.

"Psst . . . How do you say 'vacation' in Spanish?"

"Miss Andrews, I don't understand this."

It's Greek To Me

As you enter your foreign language class at the beginning of the year, you are a little excited but somewhat doubtful. "What," you wonder, "possessed me to take a foreign language when English is already foreign enough!"

While it's true that a foreign language can be difficult to master, it's benefits make the effort worth it! Think about it . . . want to impress someone? Mutter a few words in French. They'll never know what you are talking about.

A foreign language class can also be a lot of fun. Everyone receives pen names in their language. Occasionally the classes have parties with food from that country. Also there are field trips to take, and if you are one of the lucky ones—a trip to your country.

Foreign language is as fun and challenging as a student makes it! After learning about a foreign culture, you can truly appreciate what it means to be an American.

Do these look like Fleissige Schüler (hardworking students) to you?

Spanish isn't always as relaxing as it looks.

Business/ Computers

These sophomores hurry to finish their typing before the bell rings.

The IOL class shows the real spirit of Christmas.

Mind Your Own Business

Your pulse races as you carefully calculate each column. Then, you groan inwardly, one cent off!!!! What type of class are you in! Business!

Many students (especially those in General Business or Accounting) are familiar with the scene described above. The world of business is a tough and competitive one, and the classes offered in it are not much easier!

The business courses offered at South Adams range from typing, to computers, to actual office experiences.

The business and computer department at S.A. keeps students very busy, but more importantly, it offers valuable experience for the years to come.

Craig Hammitt is caught daydreaming during one of his classes.

Home Economics

Home on the Range

Where can you go to learn about cooking, sewing, relationships, marriage, childcare and even selecting a home? Look no further than the Home Economics department.

This year a new class, Personal Health and Fitness, was added to the many other helpful courses. Students in this class exercised daily, established diets in relation to nutrition, and set goals for themselves.

Mrs. Merkel and Mrs. Yake were constantly planning exciting activities for their classes. In order to provide the students with the knowledge of real life, the class took many field trips.

Developing skills that will be useful for a lifetime is what Home Economics is all about.

ART

Are you sure you can see the paper, Greg?

The smell must really be bad in the junior high art class as the students draw their shoes.

Deanna Haines looks for an art project.

These girls pretend to be working.

ART ATTACK

ART—an easy course, right? NOT SO FAST!! Anyone who has ever taken an art course understands the frustrations involved. For instance, the drawing of Abraham Lincoln that went through 15 face lifts! There was the statue that erupted in the kiln (after weeks of construction and picking clay out from underneath fingernails!) Then there were the "modern art" pictures (so cleverly called) of a lense cap, not to mention the horse that looked the same from every angle!

Here at S.A. to console and encourage students in their artistic abilities, which ever applies best, are Mr. Schwartz, who works with the Jr. High, and Mrs. Johnson, who instructs the Sr. High. Their talents are unquestionable (although one may question how they can make it look so easy while one is working on nose reconstruction #16!). Under the guidance of these two instructors, even students who aren't "naturals" have made measurable improvements from the start of the course!

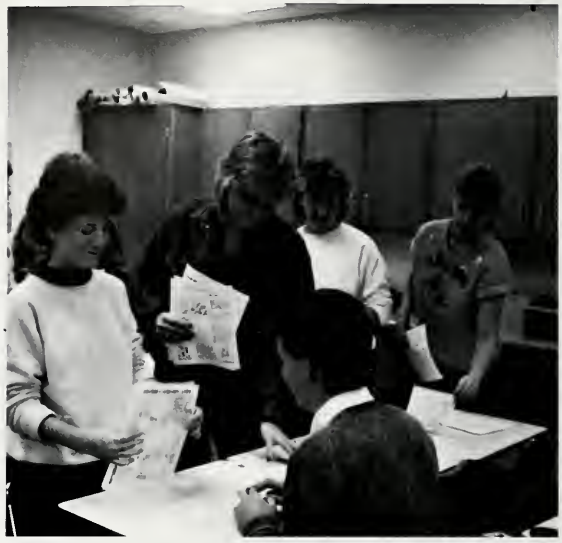
The annual art show, held each year during the pops concert, gives art students a perfect chance to show their work. It's about this time that one realizes that the effort (yes, even the frust"ART"tions!) were worth it.

This advanced art class seems to be working hard on their projects.

Brenda Vore gets ready to work on her project.

JOURNALISM

Bob Morris has the easy job of stapling the papers together.



Julie Steiner takes a break from her work to gab with her journalism friends.

Mila Sprunger attempts to read as Robyn Werst and Tricia Lengerich catch up on the latest gossip.

Valerie Kuntz has to hide her eyes from those "hunks" on the wall.

Theresa Schaadt keeps her cool as these students order carnations.

Out Of Our Minds, Into Your Hands

WAIT! Don't turn the page. We know you'll look at the pictures and then go on. But, have you ever thought about all the time it takes to write these articles? If you've read this far, we commend you, but don't stop here!

A lot of work goes into the newspaper and yearbook, making organization vital in the class. There are articles to write, pictures to take, and deadlines to meet. Ruth Neunschwander is the silent guiding hand in the class, making sure that, over-all, things run smoothly. For the most part, however, the class is left in the charge of Valerie Kuntz, newspaper editor, and Michele Burke and Chris Fletcher, yearbook editors.

To raise money to produce the newspapers and yearbook, the class sells ads to supportive businesses and stores; we also sell school newspapers and sponsor the annual Valentine's dance and carnation sales.

Leon Lahman works under the hood of his car during auto mechanics class.

Todd Hirschy, Greg Morinigstar, and Barry Coblentz work hard in shop.

Drilling It In

If you enjoy using your hands in a creative way, then industrial arts is an excellent class to look into. Although the class usually attracts mostly guys, it is open to all students. The students work with everything from wood to metal. Not only does the class inspire creativity, but it also shows some compassion. The industrial arts club has made a tradition out of constructing and donating toys at Christmas to Toys for Tots.

If you look out the window at different times during the day, you might see a long convoy of cars headed toward Geneva for the auto mechanics class. This is a favorite class for students who enjoy tinkering under the hood of a car. It teaches students better ways to fix a car than the bobby-pin method. It is also a chance to escape the pressures of school during the 5 to 10 minutes drive to Geneva.

During auto mechanics class at Geneva, Jeff Bauman tires to fix this car.

Chad coaches Denise Fennig through a close game of ping-pong.

No Sweat

Want a refreshing (well, maybe more sweaty than refreshing) break during your day? Then P.E. class is right up your alley! This energizing course is an excellent diversion from that math problem you've wasted five sheets of paper and a whole study hall on. It's an "all brawn, no brains" course. Not that P.E. is especially easy—the saying goes "No pain, no gain!" By the time you've finished 5 minutes of stretches, a set of warm-up calisthenics, and a timed run, you realize the true essence of this saying! And you're not even finished yet! It's off to the tennis court, track, indoor volleyball courts, bowling alley, or wherever the "sport of the day" may lead you. Once the grueling but refreshing exercise is over, you have yet another challenge to face: Trying to get dressed without getting powdered to an extreme, swirlyied, dragged screaming into the showers completely clothed, or having your picture taken and used as bribery.

Hey! Where did the ball go?

This sophomore P.E. class show their enthusiasm for gym.

"Success in football can not always be measured on the scoreboard."

Coach Sorg

Down, But Not Out

Although the 1986 Football Starfires had a rough season, they kept their chins up and kept going. All 41 players worked very hard at practices and played their hearts out during many grueling games.

Our second-year coach, Kirk Sorg, worked the team hard in preparing them for their 1986 schedule. Coach Sorg had this to say about this year's team: "Success in football can not always be measured on a scoreboard. That was especially true this year. I am proud of our football team. They worked very hard and displayed class in the face of adversity, which is a very difficult lesson to learn. Through their dedication, support, and hard work, they have made this season successful in ways that are difficult to measure."

Although a number of the players graduated this year, there will still be a large nucleus of experienced players back next year to train, encourage, and work with the young players who come out next fall.

Stars' Season Shows Individual Improvement

"Things are looking up for the South Adams tennis team."

Coach Grogg

The 1986 boys' tennis team showed much improvement this season. They won 10 individual matches. Marc Stidham won 4 of these playing the #2 singles position. Because of this, Marc won the "VIP" award.

Craig Liechty received the "Most Improved" award for working his way up to the #1 singles position from doubles the year before.

Mark Burry was selected as the "Mental Attitude" award winner for his outstanding leadership qualities both on and off the court.

The team played very well in the sectional, or at least were narrowly defeated by a tough Blackford team that became the sectional runner-up. Seniors Mark Burry and Jason Yager defeated their opponents at #1 doubles. Sophomore Craig Yoder defeated his opponent at #3 singles, and another match went 3 sets before he faced defeat.

Mark Burry concentrates on his next move.

What's the matter, boys? Doesn't anyone have a tennis ball?

Psyched to Spike

This year's volleyball season was a difficult one for the Lady Stars because of few wins. In spite of their record, the girls had a fun season.

One highlight of the season was when the team placed fourth out of eight teams in the Churubusco tournament. Suzanne Crabill and Thesa Roth were voted for the All-Tournament team at Churubusco.

The Lady Stars showed great individual imporvement. Thesa Roth led in spike kills, Suzanne Crabill had the most assists, and Lori Liechty was first in serve aces.

There were two seniors on the team this year: Thesa Roth and Jeanette Hofstetter. Both girls felt that this season was a learning experience. They agreed that one needs to keep trying and to give her all. One can not look back at past years when the team lost. One has to look ahead and make it work. All you need is confidence in yourself and in your teammates.

After sectional, a banquet was held for the team in the high school commons. Coach Nofziger awarded three plaques. Kaye Haines received the Coaches Award. Thesa Roth was awarded the Defensive Award, and Lori Liechty received the Offensive Award. At the banquet, Ms. Nofziger also awarded manager letters to Andrea Augsburger and Suzy Lehman. At the end of the banquet, Ms. Nofziger announced that the girls will have a new coach next year.

Swimmers, Take Your Mark

1986 Starfire girls' swimteam, under the direction of coach Jim Umpleby, had a very successful season. Although they had only three victories, many of the Lady Starfires had achieved some personal bests.

The high point award was given to Donna Salmon. The mental attitude award was given to Kemper Shoemaker. The most valuable swimmer award was given to Marie Liechty.

Their three main goals for next year are to place in the top three in sectional next year, to advance at least three events to the state meet, and to place in the top three at the Richmond Invitational.

"The girls have shown much potential this year. I believe that with much hard work and determination, they can and will achieve great things in the future!"—Coach Umpleby

On The Rebound

The 1986-87 season was one of improvement for the Boys Basketball team. The boys shared the insane joy of victory and the disappointment of defeat.

Some awards were given to some of the hard-working players. Ted Minch received the Most Valuable Player award. Matt Michael struggled hard to obtain the Most Improved award. Kent Lehman and Gregg Nussbaum received the Mental Attitude awards.

Coach Hans made a few closing comments at the end of the season. "We made significant improvement in our defensive play as the season progressed, but we lost some of our offensive punch as teams bottled up Ted Minch and Matt Michael. I believe that the team played with more confidence than last year, but there are still many aspects of the game that need to be improved."

Coach Hans also said that it had been an enjoyable year coaching as the players' attitudes had been excellent. He also looks forward to next year.

"I was pleased at how each girl had improved."
—Coach Baumer

The 1986-87 girls' basketball season was an interesting one. Many underclassmen got much needed experience. The girls all showed much dedication. Coach Baumer was pleased at how each girl had improved.

This year was a first in that the girls had girl cheerleaders. Kim Frank, Missy Eldridge, Pam Baker, and Missy Michael went to every game to support the girls and led the crowd in cheers.

At the awards banquet held on April 6, 1987, Thesa Roth was named as Most Valuable Player, along with the rebounding plaque, and the All-Conference award. Caryl Morgan was awarded the free throw shooting plaque (she shot 63 percent). Tricia Spade received the Most Improved and Noelle Hans was awarded Best Attitude.

This year the girls won the Quabache Conference Trophy for the second year in a row. Each girl was awarded a shield for her letter jacket.

Diving Into It

The 1987 boys' swim team, coached by Jim Umpleby, had a very trying season. The team, which consisted of only seven members, had to overcome their size with determination. Many of the teams they competed against were three or four times the size of our team. But one of the factors of a winning team is the amount of enthusiasm a team has, and our team definitely won in this category.

Awards were given out to some of the hardworking swimmers at the annual awards banquet. Jeff Sprunger received the most valuable swimmer and the high point award. This year's mental attitude award went to Aaron Scholer.

Even though the team won only one meet this year, Coach Umpleby felt much was accomplished. Next year's team will be comprised mostly of returning lettermen, and so the experience gained this year will benefit the program next year.

Instead of having a fear of water, Jim Umpleby has a fear of cameras.

Safety Pins

A glance at the season scoreboard shows that it's been a rough year for the South Adams wrestlers—but there is a lot that the scoreboard does not show. Coach Tatman stated, "1986-87 was a season of learning and understanding for S.A." With only three seniors and many first-year wrestlers, the team suffered through its share of growing pains. The season was not without its highlights, however. Senior, Randy Neunschwander showed just how bright a Star can shine! His wrestling history stands on its own. He captured the regional title, placed third in semi-state, and went on to compete in State.

South Adams will be losing two other wrestlers to graduation. Unfortunately seniors Jeff Bauman and Mike Lahman were both injured early in the season and were unable to compete. The other sixteen wrestlers tucked a year of valuable experience under their belts and with the right attitudes may make quite a come-back next year. According to Coach Tatman, they have the potential if they have the guts!

Tumblin' For Points

The 1986-87 girls' gymnastics team consisted of seven varsity and three junior varsity members. During their season, there was a total of nine meets.

The team was under the direction of Missy Ogg and Linda Kirchofer. The girls practiced many long hours to achieve their goals.

One of the most outstanding gymnasts was Suzanne Crabill. Suzanne led the team in most of the events.

Even though the team had only one win and eleven losses, many individual goals were achieved. This year has proved to be very successful for gaining experience for all the girls involved.

Now, that's what you call "flippin' out".

Hit and Run

The 1987 South Adams baseball team, coached by Dean Stahly and Larry Baumer, had an up and down season. The team started out slow by losing their first four games. But the team did finally pull together and ended their season with eight wins.

There were several players who helped out the team. Ted Minch and Phil Seffernick were selected as the co-captains of the team. Sophomore Craig Liechty had a good year of hitting. The team also boasted on their five strong pitchers: Steve Dellinger, Trent Lehman, Ted Minch, Chad Grabau, and Greg Orr.

The team, having only two seniors, lacked experience. However, the team showed a lot of promise in upcoming years. Coach Stahly commented, "The youth of the team set a winning trend for baseball at S.A. in the near future." With a lot of talented sophomores and juniors coming up, there seem to be high hopes for S.A. baseball.

In the Long Run

Both the boys' and girls' track team, coached by Richard Clevenger, Jim Flueckiger, and Rod Mosser, had a strengthening season this year. Although their season's records were not that great, a few individuals stood out from the rest. Those qualifying for sectional in their events were Tiffany Lehman, Holly Hoffman, Tricia Spade, Kathleen Fletcher, Rick Gorrell, Steve Baker, Doug Kinsey, and Gregg Raff. At the Blackford Invitational, Steve Baker won over all in the 100 meters and 200 meters races. He finished the season with the most points for the boys' track team.

Most of the members of this year's track teams will be returning next year. Therefore, things are looking good for South Adams track.

The South Adams golf team had a great season. The coach, John Hans, said that he really enjoyed working with the team and that he was happy to see improvement among his players.

This year the golf team was made up of underclassmen. The top six scorers were John Bodle, Jeff Sprunger, Todd Coffin, Todd Dull, Bob Rhoades, and Shane Wingle. The team will have several seasons togethe to gain experience and to work out any faults that they have in their games.

This year's South Adams tennis team did not have much success. All seventeen girls put out their best effort, but it did not show any results on the scoreboard. Even though the team only won one game, a lot of individual improvement was shown.

During the week of May 23rd, the tennis team played hard to win the sectional. Although the team as a whole was defeated, one individual did win at sectional. Tammy Hodge defeated her opponent and went on to compete at the regional level. Even though Tammy was later defeated, winning at sectional was a great honor.

This year's tennis team looks ahead with high hopes of success for the season of 88. With only one senior leaving the team and many returning lettermen, next year's team promises to be good.

Students in Charge

The Student Council is in charge of numerous activities. Not only does the Student Council sponsor many dances, but they also organize Homecoming affairs and spirit week activities during Boys' Basketball Sectional. The Student Council was responsible for scheduling a number of convocations to break the monotony of the school program.

This year's Student Council was under the leadership of Jim Flueckiger and Kathy Joy, along with the following officers: Cheryl Morgan, President, Jeff Lehman, Vice President, and Tiffany Lehman, Secretary-Treasurer.

A Standard of Excellance

Membership in the South Adams Chapter of the National Honor Society is based on excellence in four areas: scholarship service,leadership, and character. To be eligible for membership a student must be a junior or senior and have a grade point average of at least a B+. They must also be approved by the South Adams National Honor Society Committee and be evaluated by their teachers. Potential NHS members must demonstrate courtesy and concern for others, meet obligations to the school promptly, cooperate with the school regulations, demonstrate cheerfulness, poise, and stability, demonstrate leadership in the classroom, in school activities, and in out-of-school organizations, be dependable in any responsibility delegated to him or her, and exemplify positive behavior and attitudes.

Sideline Supporters

Two, four, six, eight, who do we appreciate? South Adams Cheerleaders! Yeah!

Have you ever thought how much the cheerleaders do for our school? Our cheerleaders are responsible for many of our spirit days, some of our dances, and those wonderful pep sessions that get us out of class! They also supply us with entertainment during the ball games.

Most important, they are the building blocks to our school's spirit. Every game, home or away, the cheerleaders are there to cheer our team on. Every dress-up day our cheerleaders dress up even if no one else does. Every ball game they are on the floor urging us to show our spirit and support the team.

We should all be proud of our cheerleaders. Just think how lifeless school would be without them.

5, 6, 7, 8 Dance!

In no time at all, the 1986-87 Superstars adopted this as their unofficial theme. The Superstars, previously known as the pom squad, also decided to make a change in names.

The Superstars were again sponsored by Elaine Willey. Elaine, who is known as "pom-mom" does all of the behind-the-scenes work from getting props ready to doing fund-raiser work to being our #1 supporter.

Brenda Norris and Chris Bresnahan were this year's captain and co-captain. Both of them worked very hard making up routines, teaching them, and working with the other girls to polish and perfect them.

This year at the Superstars' summer camp, they had the honor of bringing home one of the coveted spirit sticks. Also, Brenda Norris was chosen as a candidate for the camp Superstar Drill Team. Although she didn't make it, being a finalist was an honor itself.

All the Superstars agree that the 1986-87 year was a big success.

Salute to the flags

This year the South Adams Auxiliary Corps added a few twists to the susal routine. More rifle routines were included to contribute even more color and pizazz to the football and basketball shows. Also, to add more variety, the corps performed a dance routine with the poms. This combined entertainment was twice as exciting to watch.

Because the corps performed during pre-game, it gave them a chance to watch and cheer for the poms' performances during half-time. Perhaps the best and most needed twist added this year was the corps' gain of a flag adviser, Mrs. Marcia Couture.

The six members who made up this year's auxiliary corps were captain, Mila Sprunger; co-captain, Casi Affolder; Lyn Hirshey, Melissa Hudson, Heather Nevil, and Michele Twigg.

Showing Their Pride

The 1986 Marching Band program started in the summer with a two week band camp to get ready for the summer parades. The 52 band members, poms, and flags put in 4-6 hours of practice every day.

A week and a half before school started the second band camp began. The marchers learned to read charts, to speed up the learning of football shows, and to help them become independent marchers.

Once school started, the band became very busy. They performed at each home football game and marched at the Halloween parades. They also competed in the Bluffton Street Fair Marching Band Contest, in which they placed fifth.

The ISSMA Marching Band Contest was a good experience for the band. They did a long show with pom, flag and percussion features along with two marching drills. They were awarded second. Mr. Blocki was very pleased. He said that it was the best he had seen the band perform and that next year they would do even better.

As this was Mr. Blocki's first year with our music organization, he feels that the band has great potential and has set some goals to help the band reach this potential. He hopes to have an out-of-town summer band camp, 160 band members from grades 9-12 and a summer trip to Cedar Point to build incentive.

Mr. Blocki was proud of the band's overall performance this year and believes that with a lot of hard work the band can go places.

Sounds of Music

This year's Symphonic Band took part in a number of activities. These included the annual school concerts, individual ensemble contest, and the annual Pops Concert.

All the different activities required regular class practice and practice before school, which every band member loved!

Besides the Symphonic Band, the Pep Band also made several appearances throughout the year. The band played at all of the home basketball games, to help the cheerleaders get the crowd excited. Some familiar tunes which the band played were "We Got the Beat," "The Horse," "Land of a Thousand Dances," and "Jump." They ended their season by performing a concert in the auditorium.

Do-Re-Me

Mr. Epp runs through last minute instructions before a concert.

At the spring concert, the A Cappella began their program with the song, "In the Beginning."

The South Adams A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Garrett Epp, had a very successful year. The choir began their busy year by hosting a choral festival with Adams Central and Jay County. The combined choir learned a lot from the guest conductor, Dr. Douglas Ammam.

Soon after the choral festival, the choir began preparing for their annual broadcasting of T.V. 33's 'Carols for Christmas'. The program was a success and once again a great honor for South Adams.

In the spring, the A Cappella Choir competed in the ISSMA Choir Contest. They received a superior rating. For the second year in a row, the choir was chosen as one of the top sixteen choirs in Indiana and was invited to compete at the state level in Indianapolis. The A Cappella Choir proudly brought home the fourth place plaque.

Let's Make Some Noise!

Besides the A Cappella Choir, South Adams also has two selected ensembles. The Chamber Choir is a mixed ensemble made up of mostly juniors and seniors, and the Girls Ensemble, which is a new group this year, is made up of sophomore and junior girls.

Throughout the year both ensembles competed in many contests. Both groups received superior ratings at the ISSMA small ensemble contest and the swing choir contest.

Besides competing in contests, the small ensembles also gave concerts in the area churches, sang at Senior Citizen luncheons, sang on 'Carols For Christmas,' and provided musical entertainment at the Pop's Concert.

As the year came to a close, the members had to admit that it had been a rewarding year. Many close friendships and unforgettable memories were made.

Enthusiasm, self-discipline, and a ton of patience is exactly what every performance in a musical must have. Musicals require at least two months of practice, from the audition to the performance. Those two months are full of practices for the chorus, the leads, and the orchestra.

This year's musical, Li'l Abner, was no exception to the above. It took a lot of hard work from many people. Jim Umpleby, the director, and Mr. Epp, the orchestra conductor and director, did much of the work. Also, Betty Hartman and Steve Neuenschwander played a big part in costuming and setting the stage.

Li'l Abner takes place in Dogpatch, USA, a small, worthless town in the hills of the South. Dogpatch is just the kind of no-good place the government needs to test its atom bombs. While government officials are still in Dogpatch, they discover Yokumberry Tonic, a brew made by Abner's mammy. Abner is sent to Washington, D.C., while poor Daisy Mae Scragg, who has always loved Abner, is left at home. A Sadie Hawkins Day Race, a murder plot, and, in the end, the marriage of Abner and Daisy are a few of the exciting scenes in Li'l Abner.

This musical had been presented by South Adams about nineteen years ago. Many of the previous cast came back to relive old memories. No doubt, they got a wonderful reproduction of the show they remember so well.

The Sounds of Pops

The highlight of the South Adams music department is the annual Pops Concert. During this event, the choirs and bands, along with several selected solo and ensemble groups have an opportunity to show their talents to many people in the community. During the intermission, the crowd could browse through the displays provided by the art and FFA departments.

In order for this big night to be a success, a lot of preparation was required. Parents of the music students were involved in committees. These committees were in charge of seating reservations, decorating, and the food which was provided.

Servers for the night were the sixth graders. With the help of many people, the Pop's Concert was a success.

Before the finale, Mr. Epp and Mr. Blocki presented the music awards to a few of the hardworking music students. Melisa Lehman received the Frederic Chopin Piano award. The John Philip Sousa Band award, and Semper Fidelis award for musical excellence went to Jeff Bauman. Mary Noonan was the recipient for the National School Choral award and Lynnette McMullen was presented with the Arion award for outstanding musical achievement.

Playing the Field

The 1986-87 school year started at the state FFA Convention in June for the South Adams chapter with Kent Liechty being named the state star farmer. This award is in recognition for being the top Hoosier Farmer Degree Applicant in Production Agriculture in the state of Indiana for 1986. He was also elected to serve as Section II director and serve on the state executive committee.

During the convention three South Adams FFA members were elected to District VI office. They were Mark Burry, President; Matt Lehman, Vice-president; Jeff Bauman, Secretary. Their responsibilities for the year included working at the state fair Young McDonald's Farm, conducting District VI Officers Leadership workshop, and organize and host the District VI Leadership Convention.

The Chapter had a total of eleven Agricultural Proficiency awards recognized as one of the four best in the state. Kent Norr was awarded a week all expense trip to the American Institute of Cooperation Convention in Knoxville, Tennessee, in August for placing second. Serving in the state band were Jeff Bauman and Matt Lehman. Kyle Yoder served in the state chorus.

In the county contest the top individual from South Adams FFA was Greg Beer. The FFA Soils Team members were Greg Beer, Jeff Grogg, Mike Dubach, and Mark Kimmel. One other S.A. FFA team consisting of Rick Bollinger, Dorsey Bisel, Tom Mann, Jeff Garboden placed third in the county contest.

The Livestock team won first place in the county for the sixth consective year. Greg Beer was high individual in the County contest. Greg won the 1987 Livestock Judging plaque, and his name will be engraved on the Chapter Livestock trophy. Other first team members are Jeff Grogg, Mark Kimmel, and Tom Mann. Also advancing to the May 2, 1987, District Livestock Judging competition at Kendellville is the second team. This team placed third in the county contest.

The chapter attended the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri during the second week of November. During this trip they toured the Saint Louis Arch, the Gleanor Combine Factory, General Motors Assembly Plant and the Kansas City Board of Trade. The following members attended this convention: Mark Burry, Matt Lehman, Scott Hirschey, Scott Von Gunten, Kyle Yoder and Mike Dubach.

The chapter conducted their annual awards banquet on April 28th. The chapter awards included: Star farmer—Matt Lehman; DeKalb Award—Scott Von Gunten; Star Greenhand—Dorsey Bisel and Tom Mann; Top B.B.Q Salesman—Jeff Bauman; FFA Point System winner—Scott Von Gunten. The honorary chapter Farmer Award was given to Mrs. Maggie Fenstemaker for her thirteen years of help with the meals for the Homecoming B.B.Q, banquet, and other special events.

South Adams chapter hosted and competed in the District Leadership Contest. The chapter placed fourth out of thirteen schools in the competition. The highlights of the competition was Mark Burry's winning the Leadership contest and Matt Lehman being named District VI AgriBusinessman.

Matt Lehman was also named the 1987 Section II Star AgriBusinessman. This award was based upon being selected the top state degree applicant in the agribusiness in fourth of the state. He is in the competition for the state star agribusinessman award to be announced at the 1987 State Convention in June at Purdue University.

The South Adams FFA Chapter members also won first in four state proficiency and six others will receive final four recognition out of fourteen applicants qualified for the state level competition. The winners are listed in the following chart.

Students Teaching Students

Cadet Teaching is an unexplainable experience for those seniors who choose to take this class. The students travel to the Berne Elementary school for one period in the day. They are assigned to a different teacher each nine weeks, except for the last nine weeks, where they can choose to go back to their first nine week's class.

There are many tasks these students do; for example, they grade papers, staple papers, listen to children read, hang bulletin boards, do art projects with the class, and sometimes they are even fortunate enough to teach the class.

This class provides good experience for those who plan to become a teacher. Even for those who don't plan on becoming a teacher, this is a real learning experience.

Sights and Sounds

The 1986-87 Audio Visual Crew

The Audio Visual crew is the sights and sounds of South Adams. It is not just the cameras, tapes, and T.V. screens, but the people behind them that do the work.

The Audio Visual crew, under the guidance of Mr. Lehman, is responsible for capturing the memories of many special events at S.A. This year, the crew was at many of the sporting events, taping the games for the coaches and players. They taped our convocations, the musical, and graduation. Without these hardworking students, many of the special events at South Adams would be forgotten.

This department is also very educational. When the members of this crew get out of school, they will have the knowledge of video equipment. They will also have a great sense of accomplishment at the end of the year. The Audio-Visual crew has a special and necessary place in every school.

Audio Visual seems to be a real "laid back" class.

"Now let's see what seems to be the problem."

Setting up the lights and sound is a big job for the crew.

Where is his heavy load?

A Look Into the Past

Jun

Along with the senior year, the junior year is also very important. Many juniors start to make definite plans about college, although they usually change their minds three or four times. They also have a full load of courses to help prepare themselves for college, marriage and family life, and/or the business world.

to sponser the Junior/Senior Prom, which takes place in April. This year the class sold magazines and seat cushions.

Instead of spring fever, the juniors usually come down with a case of "senior fever." Suddenly they get an urge to begin to rule the school. The week that the seniors leave is usually the juniors' time to shine.

By the end of their sophomore year, students begin to realize that they only have two more years left to make lasting memories.

At the present time, they are thinking about going on dates, getting their licenses and getting out of the house on Friday and Saturday nights. Sophomores are stuck in the middle, not knowing where the future will lead them.

Sophomores say good-bye to Mr. Stauffer and hello to Mr. Clemens. For the rest of their high school years, sophomores acquire the help of Mr. Clemens for their future career decisions

Sophomores begin to realize how the real world is. They usually start looking for jobs to save money for college or just to have some spending money.

Therefore, the sophomore year isn't a year any student wants to overlook and the 1986-87 sophomores certainly haven't.

Fresh

Webster defines freshman as a student in the first year of school or a novice. But here at South Adams a freshman is no longer considered a rookie. Now that the seventh and eighth graders attend our high school, the ninth graders escape many tortures brought on by the upperclassmen. They no longer have to run from the seniors with fears of swirlies, fights, and just getting pushed around in general.

is ordering your class ring. This is one of the first big steps in becoming a full-fledged high school student.

This is also a time for new experiences. Many are looking forward to dating, playing in high school sports, and picking their own elective classes.

School life can be funfilled but also very trying for freshmen. Even though they go through some setbacks, a lot of unforgettable memories are made during the freshmen year.

Mrs. Neuwnschwander opens her gifts at her surprise retirement party.

A Fond Farewell to Mrs. Neuenschwander

South Adams bids a fond farewell to Mrs. Neuenschwander, a teacher of thirty-one years. She has dedicated a lot time and effort to the school and the community.

Born on February 26,1922, Mrs. Neuenschwander grew up a country girl living in the rural Bluffton school district. She graduated from Bluffton High School, which was at that time known as PA Allen High. From there Mrs. Neuenschwander went to North Central College in Naperville, Illinois where she graduated with a BA in Social Studies and English. The next step was on March 6,1947, when she tied the knot with her husband of forty years.

Mrs. Neuenschwander has taught a variety of classes: U.S. and World history, geography, government, economics, all levels of grammar and literature, journalism French I, II, III, and 3rd grade for 3 years. And believe it or not she taught jr. high girls phys, ed. for about two years. She also contributed to the community. She started the Wabash Clover Leaf 4-H club and held the meetings in her home for 25 years.

Although she is ready for retirement she says she will cherish the memories of her years at S.A.

Mrs. Neuenschwander and her husband, Sherm, have been married for forty years.

Mrs. Neuenschwander keeps busy proofreading spreads for the yearbook staff.

Acknowledgements

We have finally come to the last page of this year's edition of Reflection. With much time and effort that has gone into this yearbook, we hope that everyoe will cherish the memories of the 1986-1987 school year that have made this book.

We would like to give a great big thank-you to the people and businesses which made it all possible. First, to the Photography class and Todd Clevenger who supplied us with many pictures. Also, to Affolder, Habegger, Lifetouch studios and richards for their quick service and great pictures. We would also like to thank the school administration for their time and willingness which they gave us to let us try new ideas.

Special thanks goes to the Journalism class for all their time and cooperation which they gave us to help us meet our deadlines. Also, to Fred Henderson, our yearbook representative, thank-you for all your ideas and help for which you provided us with.

Finally, to Mrs. Neuenschwander and our families, we want to thank you for your encouragement and help which you provided for us to help us survive this past school year.
